Complex Injury Rehab is recruiting Occupational Therapists to join our team!

Move to where we need you & receive a MOVING BONUS; HIRING BONUSES FOR EXPERIENCED OTs!

We are actively seeking Occupational Therapists to provide rehabilitation services in our Toronto, Barrie, and Durham Region catchment areas. In addition, we are hiring an Occupational Therapist with a specific interest and training in Paediatrics.

What's the job? Not all OT roles are created equal. Every day is different and assessment forms only one part of the OT role. We do plenty of treatment and we love it! For example, you might find yourself doing any of the following:

- Performing an on-site scooter assessment with a young mother at Loblaw's. She has a left neglect. Is she safe doing groceries for her family?
- Administering BrainFx – a cognitive assessment developed by the owners of CIR - with an elderly widower. He is also a diabetic. Can he remember to take his insulin after a brain injury?
- Advocating for a grade-9 ESL student with a brain injury who lives in subsidized housing. He needs an Individualized Education Plan. What supports are needed to ensure his success?
- Coordinating hospital discharge for a family of four. They were all injured in an accident. How can their home be modified to accommodate dad's wheelchair?
- Documenting your expert opinion as a specialist in function. How exactly are limitations in tolerances impacting a client's occupational performance?
- Implementing a cognitive remediation program utilizing a combined approach of functional tasks, technology and pen and paper activities.
- Collaborating with parents and teachers on practical strategies for supporting a child to control impulsive behaviour while improving their focus and reading retention: What's the best way to introduce a new assistive technology, and how will you work with these stakeholders to ensure effective implementation, and measure progress, across school and home settings?

Who are we? At Complex Injury Rehab, we do what OTs do best. We offer just the right challenge for our clients as well as our professionals, facilitating function and well-being in valued roles through education, training, collaboration, support, and creative technology:

- We are owned and operated by experienced Occupational Therapists who make excellent mentors.
- We are innovators with an interest in building existing markets while also creating new opportunities.
We are open, flexible and welcoming of your ideas and professional interests.
We are fair and treat our therapists the way we hope to be treated ourselves.
We offer contract consulting positions and salaried employment options, paid vacations, benefits, a yearly professional development fund and quarterly team training days.
Complex Injury Rehab is honoured to be nominated for Rehabilitation Company of the Year as part of the 2017 Awards of Excellence in Brain Injury Rehabilitation.

Who are you? In addition to holding a University-level degree in Occupational Therapy and access to a reliable vehicle, possession of a valid driver’s permit and willingness to travel within your service area:

- You have 3 or more years of experience providing assessment and treatment services within the auto sector, OR in a commensurate role and are able to commit to an intensive in-house training program.
- You are hard-working, internally motivated, and love to learn and innovate.
- You are personable, resourceful, and excel at rapport-building.
- You can develop and defend your opinions, both orally and in writing.
- Your professional interests include neuro-function, neuro-rehab, and the impact of brain injuries, spinal cord injuries, and other severe injuries on occupational performance.
- Specialized training and/or experience working with paediatric populations is considered an asset for the paediatric position.
- Fluency to practice in other languages is an asset.

If this opportunity matches your interest and experience, we’d love to hear from you!
